The Power Of Having A Strong Network Of Women In Your Corner When Launching A Business

One of the most important things I’ve learned about networking over my career is that it’s not the size of your network that matters, but the quality of the relationships you have within your network. It’s crucial to have a few deep connections within your network, and these will give you more support than thousands of followers on social media.

The Women in Buses Award is given to an individual who displays excellence in service to their organization. This includes customer operations, drivers, mechanics, sales or any other impactful area in the travel and tourism industry.

The WIB organization provides a forum for women working in transportation to network, learn, share common challenges, and share best practices. As Women in Buses grows, the Women in Buses Council, the volunteer organization that runs WIB, has brought together many amazing women who have helped to create a forum that is open to all. The council has developed the WIB Excellence in Leadership Award (WIB-ELA). This award is given to an individual who displays excellence in service to their organization.

The WIB-ELA recognizes an individual who displays excellence in service to their organization. This includes customer operations, drivers, mechanics, sales or any other impactful area in the travel and tourism industry.
